

SON FINDS HIS FATHER AFTER 15 YEAR HUNT

Pair Separated Since Death of Mother Reunited by Newspaper Adv.

BOY IS NEW YORKER

Lost Track of Parent After Leaving Orphanage to Go to Work.

TRAIL LED TO CANADA

Heard of Father by Canvassing All the Leveques in New York.

MONTREAL, Aug. 29.—An advertisement in a local paper and two photographs—one a mental picture of a baby boy and the other a faded, old fashioned likeness of a man taken thirty-two years ago—brought a father and son together in the lobby of a hotel here to-day after a mutual search of fifteen years.

When Bernard Leveque's wife died twenty-eight years ago he was obliged to put his two sons, a lad of seven and Bernard, Jr., six, in an orphanage at Odessa, N. Y. The older boy died, but Bernard, Jr., thrived and went to New York to work. Twenty years later, when he had been in the city for some time, he heard of his father, with the old fashioned photograph in his possession.

Trail led to Canada.

A month ago the son in searching for his parent came across a trail which led to Montreal, where he went a week after obtaining three weeks vacation. His father had been all the while conducting a similar search, but with only a mental picture of the lad.

This forenoon word came to the son's room that a stranger wished to see him in the lobby of the hotel regarding the advertisement in the local paper. Carrying the yellowing picture in his hand the boy met an elderly looking man in the lobby. The machine made picture proved useless as the son with the old photograph in his hand failed to recognize his father.

The phantom mind photograph was different, as Bernard Leveque, Sr., reached forward and embraced the boy whom he had not seen for twenty-eight years. Both wept with joy and it was not long before a score of guests crowded around the united father and son to listen to their stories of long search and final happy climax.

Lives With a Leveque Family.

In his home at 316 West Thirty-sixth street Frank Leveque, who is a brother to Bernard Leveque, Jr., or his father, said last night the younger man had been stopping with them for about a month. It developed that Bernard, Jr., had canvassed every family that name in this city and other places throughout the country in the search for his father. During this search he came with the Leveques on West Thirty-sixth street to live. This family came to this country from Arras, France, nine years ago and there is a father, mother, two sons and a daughter. They told the young man they had heard of him from a relative by the same name in that country.

Bernard, Jr., went to his employers here and told them he thought he had at last obtained a clue as to his father's whereabouts, so he was allowed three weeks' vacation with pay, according to Mme. Leveque, who had just received a telegram from the young man saying he would arrive home with his father this morning.

With the photograph pinned in his inside pocket young Leveque arrived in Lake Placid two weeks ago yesterday. He found the relative of Frank Leveque, who informed him that the man searching for his son had left there two years ago either for Montreal or Quebec.

When he was about to give up the search in Montreal the young man wrote Mme. Leveque and her daughter that as a last resort he was going to put an advertisement in a local paper with the photograph. No further word was received until the telegram came last night. The Leveques of Thirty-sixth street are going to give a warm homecoming reception to father and son.

ROBBERS GET $21,000 LOOT IN TWO BREAKS

Enter Magistrate Miller's Mother's Home, Also Shop.

Burglars early yesterday entered the home of Mrs. Sarah Miller, mother of Magistrate Harry Miller, at 106 Clinton avenue, Jamaica, and carried away clothing, cash and silverware worth $21,000. Her home has been robbed six times in the last ten years.

Mrs. Miller, her son, Marcus Miller, and his family, who live with her, are passing the summer at a farmhouse and the house was closed. The robbery was discovered by the family chauffeur, Charles Seiferman, on his daily inspection tour yesterday. He found that a front window had been smashed and both floors and the attic ransacked thoroughly. Most of the silverware was stored in the attic.

Burglars also broke into the establishment of Samuel Atkins at 421 Bedford avenue, Brooklyn, and escaped with furs worth $15,000, which they apparently loaded into an automobile. The fur company's establishment is less than a block and a half from the Clymer street police station. Detectives found the burglars gained entrance through a rear entrance, cut away the bars and broke a window pane. The company lost $5,000 in a robbery last January.

EX-TELLER GETS 2 YEARS FOR EMBEZZLING $3,107

Asks Leniency Because of 'Intelligence' and 'Disgrace.'

Gerardo M. H. Thibault, formerly a teller in the foreign exchange department of the Irving National Bank, pleaded guilty yesterday to a series of embezzlements totaling $3,107 of the bank's funds and was sentenced by Judge Edwin W. Holmes to two years in the Atlanta penitentiary.

Thibault had offered his plan, his counsel urged that in view of his intelligence and the disgrace of his arrest he ought to be dealt with leniently. Abraham I. Menin, Assistant United States Attorney, replied that Thibault's "intelligence, far from being an excuse, was an aggravation of the offense."

Here Comes New Dance for the Bashful Wooer

THE members of the Society of "Dancing" who are holding their annual convention at the Waldorf-Astoria, invented a new dance yesterday and announced immediately that it was for the express benefit of the bashful wooer and would be called "Say It While Dancing." The steps seem to form a sort of hesitating movement, very appropriate, and the sponsors expect a lot of "it" to be said as soon as the people learn how to do the dance.

APPLEBY'S MEN RAID WOODMANSTEN INN

Agents Break Down 4 Doors to Reach Concrete Covered Liquor Cache.

Acting on orders from prohibition officials to clean up Westchester county agents yesterday raided the fashionable Woodmansten Inn, on the Boston road, and found a large cache of whisky, wines and beers, valued at $25,000, secreted in the cellar of a low frame building 200 feet from the inn.

Agents were active in Westchester during the latter part of last week, and on Sunday night they reported to Director John D. Appleby that several drinks had been purchased at the Woodmansten Inn and whisky had been offered for sale at $40 a pint. The inn is on one of the main highways of the county and is a favorite stopping place for automobile parties and weekend visitors.

The raiders found the liquor buried under a heavy layer of concrete and so well concealed that it was necessary to break through four thick doors before the hiding place was reached. One hundred cases of fine assorted whiskeys, twenty-five barrels of wine, ten barrels of beer and bulk whisky were unearthed. These were seized and loaded into a motor truck and taken to one of the bonded warehouses.

Joseph L. Panti, proprietor of the inn, was served with a summons to appear before United States Commissioner Hitchcock, along with Bernard Hayes, who appeared to be in charge of the premises at the time, and Charles Malfatto, an Italian, who lived in a room above the cellar, where the liquor was stored. A waiter named Philbert, who served the drinks to the agents, was also served with a summons.

Flask carriers arrested in accordance with Inspector Bolan's orders to curb drinking in Broadway cabarets continue to be dismissed when their cases are called in the Magistrate's court. The patron of the Little Club who was arrested Monday night, along with the proprietor of the establishment was discharged yesterday by Magistrate Levine in the West Side court. The only testimony against him was given by Patrolman John Johansmeyer, who said he saw the defendant pour some whisky from a flask. When arrested he gave the name of "Samuel Jones" and an address somewhere on Third avenue. The proprietor was also released.

PICKS BOUT WITH BEAR; LOSES HAND, FINED $10

Bill Blythe Not So Blithe When Bruin Bites.

Bill Blythe of 463 Bergenville avenue challenged Major Jack Allen's trick bear to a fight on Lincoln avenue, West Hoboken, Monday night. Bill's pretty husky, and the police say he had taken a drink or two of something that did not do him good.

The bear—a small black one that acts in vaudeville—was not anxious to fight. Bill tried to arouse the bear's fighting instinct by a right swing to the bear's nose. It worked. The bear took hold of Bill and tried to take hold of the bear. Bill did manage to trip up the animal and they went rolling across the street.

Gradually the bear warmed up to the business in hand and took Bill's hand in its mouth. Bill will proceed through the rest of the fight with a section of his left hand missing. Then the bear removed Bill's trousers and shirt. It was great fun for the bear. Finally the bear knocked Bill for a keg of chloroform and was just about to relieve him of a leg when Major Allen and a couple of policemen induced the animal to call it a night.

Bill was taken before Recorder Hausenstein yesterday and fined $10.

INSANE CHINESE BITES GIRL FIFTEEN TIMES

Runs About Half Dressed and Climbs Porch.

Lo Sun, a Chinese laundryman, 30 years old, became violently insane in Jamaica last night and ran into a laundry at 142 New York avenue, where he was employed until about a month ago. He was carrying a knife and a hammer, and when he ran into the laundry he bit the girl fifteen times on the neck and shoulders. He was driven off by Mr. Taylor, Patrolman Henry Steffen, who chased Lo Sun into a field and subdued him with his night stick.

The Conklin girl was taken to the Jamaica Hospital. Lo Sun, under arrest, was also taken to the hospital, where he was placed in a straight jacket. Dr. Gregerson, cautioned the girl's wounds which were not serious.

LASCAR SAILORS PRAY OR GAMBLE ALL DAY

Divide Their Leisure Time Aboard Ship.

With twelve white officers and sixty-nine Malays and Lascars aboard the freighter Comerio of the Oriental Steamship Company, which is docked at Pier 29, Brooklyn, has come to be known along the waterfront as "the praying ship." A searing aboard has been deputized by a high priest of India to lead the women in their prayers, and at certain designated hours during the day and night they are called together and kneel on the deck or the pier and turn their faces toward the east and pray. None can speak English.

The only other activity extensively indulged in by the Lascars and Malays on the trip is gambling. One ship officer said it is just a continual round of gambling and prayer, leaving off one to take up the other. The men form a good crew, it is said, and work for much less than the average seamen, standing the tropical heat better than any other crew seen used on the Pacific route.

MILK COST INCREASED.

Wholesale Price 21 Cents per Hundred Higher Sept. 1.

Increases in the wholesale price of milk for September were announced yesterday by the Dairywomen's League Cooperative Association, Inc. The figures are the same for fluid milk as were the prices in September, 1921. This is an advance of 21 cents a hundred pounds in Class 1, which is fluid milk for city consumption, over the August price. No change as yet has been announced in retail prices.

GANG CHIEF KILLED IN SIDEWALK CROWD

Sitting on Stool in Front of Shop When Someone Presses Gun to His Head.

SHOT SINGES HAIR OFF

Pelletier Had So Many Foes Police Are in Dark as to Slayer's Identity.

John Pelletier, 33, known to the police and throughout the East Side as a burglar, gangster and gunman, with a criminal record covering nearly twenty years, was shot to death yesterday as he sat on a little stool in front of his coffee house at 42 Monroe street. The man who shot him and the police are trying to pick the murderer out of the hundreds who hated Pelletier enough to kill him—stole up quietly behind him and shot him through the head.

Pelletier's coffee house, situated in the dark angle of Hamilton and Monroe streets, is a popular rendezvous for dozens of young men of the East Side whose apparently large incomes come from sources which continually puzzle the police. But none of the customers were there at 5 o'clock. Pelletier drew his little stool upon the pavement in front of his shop, crossed his legs, lit a cigarette and leaned backward. A dense crowd was passing by a few feet away.

Singed His Hair Off.

There is a rear entrance on Hamilton street through which customers may enter Pelletier's coffee house. Through that entrance came the murderer. He slipped up behind Pelletier, jammed the muzzle of the gun against his skull and fired. The gun, the police say, must have been jammed there, for his hair was singed off.

Whatever happened just then happened very quickly. Certainly the crowd was in an uproar. The murderer fell out from under him and let him slide to the sidewalk dead. The assassin, the police agree, must have leaped into the midst of the crowd and either fought his way through to another street or else he might have joined the crowd in its scramble and screaming about the body of the slain coffee house proprietor.

A waiter named Philbert, who served the drinks to the agents, was also served with a summons.

Flask carriers arrested in accordance with Inspector Bolan's orders to curb drinking in Broadway cabarets continue to be dismissed when their cases are called in the Magistrate's court. The patron of the Little Club who was arrested Monday night, along with the proprietor of the establishment was discharged yesterday by Magistrate Levine in the West Side court. The only testimony against him was given by Patrolman John Johansmeyer, who said he saw the defendant pour some whisky from a flask. When arrested he gave the name of "Samuel Jones" and an address somewhere on Third avenue. The proprietor was also released.

WAS HATED AND FEARED.

Pelletier was hated and feared, and he was reputed to be the leader of some sort of a gang, thought it never had any official name more than "Pelletier's gang." A feud must have been behind the murder, detectives agree, but whether it was bootlegging feud, a feud over a woman or some other sort of quarrel no one knows.

Pelletier was arrested last April at Freehold, N. J., as a material witness in a murder at Keansburg, N. J. He was out on bail in this city on a charge of violating the Sullivan law, an offense which he committed frequently.

Detectives went to 98 Mott street to question Kate Alessio, 21, who was released in $2,000 bail in Freehold at the same time that Pelletier was. The Alessio girl's brother also was questioned, but neither was arrested. The detectives said that at least once in the last week Pelletier had struck the girl, and that she had declared he planned to kill her.

The first criminal record of Pelletier was in 1905, when he was sent to Elmira for burglary. In 1907 he was sent to Sing Sing for burglary. A year later he was sent to Sing Sing for a year and a half for the same offense. In 1914 he was sent to the penitentiary for carrying concealed weapons. In 1917 he was sent to Sing Sing for two years and one-half to five years for robbery. In 1920 he was arrested for robbery but discharged.

The petitioning creditors are Frank C. Colyer, whose claim is for $220; Thomas A. Powder, $60, and Patsey Longiello, $500. Flaherty, Turner & Strouse of 2 West street are attorneys for the petitioning creditors.

BAKER ORDERED HELD IN $27,000 SWINDLE

Extradition Papers Expected From Newkirk, Okla.

Thomas Baker, alias Baker Tom and Thomas Ochaltree, arrested Monday as a fugitive from justice in connection with an alleged swindling scheme, was ordered held for thirty days when arraigned yesterday before Magistrate Levine in West Side court.

The Magistrate was informed that extradition papers are expected soon from Newkirk, Okla. He is charged with being one of a gang of wiretappers that swindled J. A. Linville, civil war veteran and retired farmer of Cowgill, Mo., of $27,000 on a fake stock market tip.

CORRESPONDENT ADMITS PERJURY IN DIVORCE

Mrs. Schueler Sues to Have Decree Set Aside.

Asserting that evidence used against her in a divorce action was perjured and that her husband violated an agreement not to proceed against her while she was in Europe, Mrs. Julia R. Schueler of 124 East Eighty-fifth street, Manhattan, applied to Justice Mitchell May in the Brooklyn Supreme Court yesterday to have set aside a decree granted to her husband, Ernest Schueler, an importer of clothing from Smith, Gray & Co. of this city, was held in $5,000 bail yesterday on a charge of manslaughter after Coroner Edward Moore at Raripport had held an inquest into the killing of Frank Halleck by Smith's automobile last Saturday. Witnesses said that Smith was intoxicated.

1,000 MARCH OUT IN FIRE.

000 Girls Among Those to Leave Loft Building.

More than a thousand persons, including 900 girls, were marched in safety yesterday from the twelve story loft building at Hubert and Washington streets when the structure caught fire. The flames were confined to a bin filled with boxes in the loft of Stanley & Patterson, on the ninth floor, with small damage.

BROKER IS INDICTED ON WOMAN'S CHARGE

Sonking of Failed Firm Traded Against Customers' Orders, Is Charge.

BAIL IS PUT AT $15,000

Complainant Said Juggling Lost Her a Profit of $150,000 in Mexican Petroleum.

Harold A. Sonking, a broker, of 216 West 111th street, was held by Judge Morris Koenig in General Sessions yesterday in $15,000 bail for trial on an indictment charging him with trading against the orders of customers. Mrs. Nancy E. Hatch of 33 West Sixty-seventh street, alleges that Sonking and David J. Blume, then partners in the firm of Wilk & Co. of 50 Broadway, procured an order from her to purchase 200 shares of Famous Players-Lasky stock at $76.37 1/2 a share, and later on the same day, without her consent, they sold the stock for $77.50.

Mrs. Hatch alleges also that on January 18, last, she gave the firm an order to purchase 500 shares of Mexican Petroleum stock at $114.25 a share, and 500 shares of the same stock at $114.37 1/2 a share. They sold these shares also, she said, receiving $114.25 a share for the first lot and $114.12 1/2 a share for the second lot. Both these lots were sold to De Aguiro & Co., a firm which has since failed. According to the District Attorney's Office, Goldman & Green, members of that firm, have been indicted for larceny in the first degree.

"It was the custom of Wilk & Co. to buy stocks for customers and avoid the usual charges of brokerage," said Assistant District Attorney Schrieber, "but to cover their tracks the stocks would be sold through their house account in order to procure their customers' money."

According to Mr. Schrieber both Sonking and Blume are charged also with grand larceny in the first degree for procuring $10,000 from Mrs. Hatch last January, repaying money she had paid them at margin, and $9,925 which she had paid them in December.

Wilk & Co. went into bankruptcy on January 21, according to the Assistant District Attorney. It was estimated by him that if Mrs. Hatch had procured the Mexican Petroleum stock at the prices paid for it by Sonking and Blume and had sold it when the price soared she would have made a profit of about $150,000.

FAIL AGAIN TO DISCLOSE ASSETS OF FULLER & CO.

Inquirers Get Little Information From Bookkeeper.

Another fruitless attempt was made yesterday before Commissioner Harold P. Coffin, 217 Broadway, to disclose assets of the brokerage firm of S. M. Fuller & Co., which failed with claims of more than $5,000,000 against it.

Carl J. Austrian, attorney for the receiver, examined William P. McGee, a partner of the firm, and Gregory L. Green, for three years head bookkeeper. Fuller refused to answer questions on the ground that they might incriminate or degrade him. Miss Green said that although she was head bookkeeper she had no means of knowing what were the assets of the company. She said that she did not know whether the transactions recorded by her were genuine, and that she never knew whether the books were balanced.

CONSOLIDATED BROKERS IN BANKRUPTCY ACTION

Edwards and Gatenby Suspended by Exchange.

An involuntary petition in bankruptcy was filed yesterday in the United States District Court against the stock broker firm of Edwards & Gatenby, 56 Broad street, a member of the Consolidated Stock Exchange. Prior to the petition the Consolidated announced the suspension of the firm. According to the schedule of assets and liabilities, the firm had $90,000. Judge Julian W. Mack appointed Lawrence Berenson receiver, with a bond of $40,000. John H. Edwards and John F. Gatenby compose the firm.

The Author of So Many Good Books

was in the Civil War under the Christian Commission as a distributor of comforts and helper to the soldiers of the "Department of the James." When the war closed he came to Philadelphia through friendship of George H. Stuart, President of the Christian Commission.

In the honest opinion of the writer he was the shyest, awkwardest man he ever knew. But what a beautiful busy life he led! His books have been translated into all languages and his sayings have burned into every heart that knew him.

For example: "You walk with a friend for years in close, familiar relations, finding every day some new revealing of beauty. One day sorrow enters your life and your friend's life and you find qualities and comfort in his love of which you had no knowledge before, which seem to be reserved just for you."

Presenting to New York

The Wanamaker Copy of a Perugia Shoe

Perugia—the coming boot-maker of Paris—made the original, a charming new interpretation, in patent leather, of the close-fitting angle-high slipper, with an entirely new idea for the piece over the instep.

We copied it exact in every subtlety of line, but using, in place of the original parallel lines of gray across the front, slender insets of buckskin in a soft shade of one of the modish tones between gray and brown.

A few pairs are in stock, now, for showing and for ordering. The full line will be here early next week, $15.

First Floor, Old Building

Silk stockings, matching the insets of the shoe, may be had in the Hosiery Shop for $3.75 the pair.

Street Floor, Old Building

The last steamer brought these for Miss 14 to 20

Paris Beaded Frocks

Velvet or crepes—$39.50 to $115

Eight charming models, there are only 50 altogether, straight from Paris—for Paris is still wearing beaded frocks—like these.

Typically French in design.

Narrow borders, quaint all over patterns, wide bandings with interesting motifs, all done in the tiny, tiny beads the French love, in steel, crystal, bronze and white.

Afternoon and Evening Frocks

New shades of brown, marvelous tones in the new Venetian reds and corals, orchid, rust color, navy blue, white and black—in fine velvet, crepe de chine, crepe satin ororgette crepe.
